DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3, 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Corley (4,991,007).

Regarding claim 1, Corley shows a camera 10, which meets the means for recording as claimed, a target holder (26) extended from the camera 10 (col. 5, lines 20-22), a target (29) which has more than one color regions.

Regarding claim 2, the camera 10 in Corley is intended to be either a digital or analog camera.

Regarding claim 3, see col. 5, line 65, to col. 6, lines 2.

Regarding claim 11, see light source L.

Regarding claim 12, Corley shows a providing step (10), a juxtaposing step (26), a juxtaposing step (26), a recording step (col. 6, lines 30-33), and a calculating step (col. 7, lines 40-51).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Corley (4,991,007) in view of JP2002190959A.

Regarding claim 4, Corley does not specify that the target is a ring and the reference color regions are circumferentially spaced on the ring as claimed. JP2002190959A, from the similar field of endeavor, teaches such target (see Figure 4). By employing the ring target, JP2002190959A can carry out the color balance operation rapidly and easily than conventional targets such as disclosed by Corley. Hence, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to replace the target of Corley with the ring target of JP2002190959A so that the captured image could be quickly and easily evaluated.

Regarding claim 5, Corley shows a controller (20, 16, 38, 41).

Regarding claim 6, see reference signal generator 20.

Regarding claims 7 and 8, see col. 7, lines 40-51.

Regarding claims 9 and 10, JP2002190959A shows 10 different color regions in the ring target, which meets the at least 3 and 6 color regions as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 13-18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Waki (JP04137496) shows a ring color chart.
